Dear Sir or Madam,

Beumer, a global internal logistics supplier based in Beckum, North Rhine-Westphalia, Germany, has selected WEBfactory, a visualisation software company based in Buchen, Germany, to supply the Group's automation applications. The product range of Beumer, a family owned company founded in 1935, includes innovative conveying and loading technology, palletising and packaging equipment, as well as sorting and distribution systems. Beumer's installations and systems are currently used in more than 70 countries around the world. With some 2,000 employees, the Beumer Group achieves an annual revenue of approximately €375 million.

Beumer develops complete installations for conveying and loading technology. Its palletisation technology division provides a graded and comprehensive product range, for example, to create loading units in the cement and building materials industry and many other industries. In order to secure and protect these palletised goods, the company's packaging technology provides efficient, high-performance packaging machines. In the field of sorting and distribution technology, Beumer supplies installations, including equipment for sorting baggage with speed and accuracy in airports. Following the acquisition of the Danish company Crisplant in 2009, the Beumer Group is now a world leader in high-performance sorting equipment for airports, couriers, express, and parcel delivery service providers.

We are very proud that Beumer, a global player with 75 years of experience in this market, has entrusted us with solving its demanding and complex operating, monitoring and visualisation requirements," said Bernhard Böhler, chief executive of WEBfactory GmbH. "In addition to our web-based HMI, SCADA and process visualisation software, WEBfactory 2010 everywhere, we particularly impressed Beumer with our expertise in the field of internal logistics," WEBfactory Sales Team Manager Ralf Peters added.
